

The seven vulture species are:

- Black vulture Coragyps atratus in South America and north to the US
- Turkey vulture Cathartes aura throughout the Americas to southern Canada
- Lesser yellow-headed vulture Cathartes burrovianus in South America & Mexico
- Greater yellow-headed vulture Cathartes melambrotus in the Amazon Basin
- California condor Gymnogyps californianus in California, western North America
- Andean condor Vultur gryphus in the Andes
- King vulture Sarcoramphus papa from southern Mexico to northern Argentina

So, are we BLACK or TURKEY vultures?
